

WV State University Extension Service & Vegetable Gardening

Helping you understand vegetable gardening

- WHO: West Virginia State University Extension Service
- WHAT: Understanding Vegetable Gardening, $20 registration fee
- WHEN: Thursday, April 30, 2009 from 9:00am until 12 Noon
- WHERE: TBA

This will be the first workshop in a complete Homegrown Vegetable series being held by WVSU Extension Service. The first workshop focuses on skills for vegetable gardening. Topics covered in the workshop will include understanding soil types, topography of land, and garden planning. The workshop will also give you insight in learning how to select proper seeds and plant materials for your garden.

“Homeowner demand is increasing for homegrown produce,” says Scott Byars, Program Leader for Agriculture and Natural Resources. “The Homegrown Vegetable series is our version of a stimulus package for backyard gardens.”

Workshop registration is $20. Attendees should dress appropriately and wear comfortable shoes for the outdoor workshop. Participants must pre-register for the workshop by April 24th. Please contact Jeannie Sutphin at (304) 766-5711 or sutphinj@wvstateu.edu to register. In case of inclement weather conditions, a rain date will be determined. Each participant will then be notified of the make-up date.
