

Himalayan Monk to give lecture at WV State

Institute, WV – West Virginia State University's Research and Development Corporation is sponsoring a lecture held by his holiness Sri Vidhyadishananda Giri on June 26th. He is a previous biology scientist that went on to become a monk and teacher of yoga.

He has extensively travelled throughout the world speaking at several universities and other forums. In his travels he has delivered popular lectures such as, "Science and Spirituality" or "Graduating with Virtues and Vision." The country of India awarded his holiness the highest public title meaning "Great Teacher." He is well known for his oration and as a true motivational speaker.

His holiness Sri Vidhyadishananda Giri will give a free lecture in the Ferrell Hall auditorium on WV State's campus on June 26th at 6:00pm.

For more information, please call Dr. Umesh Reddy, Department of Biology Associate Professor at (304)533-5098.

###

